The little snail Monika Häuschen: Simply courageous

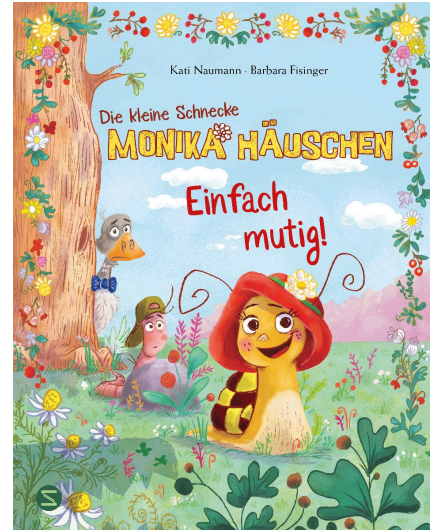

Be brave, little snail!

About the book

Monika Häuschen lives in a large garden. It has everything a little snail needs: colourful flowers in bloom, glittering dewdrops, ripe cherries to play with and the best friends in the world: the cheeky earthworm Schorsch and the clever grey goose Mr Günter. Monika only dares not go into the dark corner where stinging nettles and camomile grow. Because that's where the monster mosquito, the eagle with the scratchy claws and the pike with the jagged teeth live.

But then Mr Günter injures his goose flipper and only a camomile bandage can help him. To help her friend, Monika plucks up all her courage and dares to crawl into the dark corner on her own. Not only are there a few surprises waiting for her here, but also the realisation that when you're scared, it's worth bravely taking a closer look at what you're actually afraid of instead of hiding away in your little house.

- The radio play success for the first time in a picture book: The little snail Monika Häuschen for children aged 4 and older
- A warm-hearted story with a loving message
- Sometimes you're scared because your imagination is playing tricks on you

The little snail Monika Häuschen 7: Why do dung beetles munch on dung?

Interesting facts about nutrition & digestion in the animal world

About the book

We are hungry!

What do animals eat, what happens to the food in their bodies and how does it get out again?

It's about carnivores, herbivores, omnivores and animals that eat strange things, such as the dung beetle and gluttons that just can't get enough, like the pygmy shrew, which can eat more than its own weight at once.

- Monika Häuschen and her friends discover special features of nutrition and digestion in the animal world
- Four humorous stories with colourful illustrations and exciting information boxes

Simone Sommerland. Join in, Mousey Mouse!

The first picture book by Germany's most successful musician exclusively at Schneiderbuch

About the book

Let the show begin! The forest animals are excited because a concert is to take place in their clearing. Mousey Mouse is also keen to take part - but he's never sung before and a stage like that is pretty scary. It's just as well that the little mouse can ask his friends for advice: The rabbit children drum as if they have rhythm in their blood, and nobody croaks louder than the frogs or hums better than the bees. But the best tip comes at the end: making music together is the most fun! And if you have fun and enjoy yourself, that's enough.

- Whether in the nursery or the children's room: Simone Sommerland accompanies millions of children through everyday life
- With an exclusive song for the book
- Important message conveyed by the idol: Every child can make music!

Simone is a singer, singing teacher and mum of three. When it comes to singing and dancing, Simone is completely in her element. This is something she particularly enjoys sharing with her youngest listeners, as she knew from kindergarten that she wanted to be a singer one day. Growing up on a farm, she began her dance training at the age of twelve and took her first classical singing lessons a little later. She later studied jazz and popular singing. She caught stage fever while still at school and made her first recordings at the age of seventeen. Simone has been on stage ever since and has already sung on over 60 albums, many of which have gone gold and platinum. She lives in the rural Ruhr area, where she also passes on her knowledge and enthusiasm for singing and music in her music school.

Tina Nagel realised early on that she wanted to be a designer and illustrator, and so after an initial period of practice as a child, she simply couldn't put down her pencils and brushes. She went on to study communication design at Trier University of Applied Sciences, specialising in book design and illustration. Since then, she has lived and worked as a freelance graphic designer and illustrator in Berlin. She has illustrated over 100 books to date, some of which have been translated into several languages.

Toni Inkblot on a mousy mission

Three animal accomplices and a fast-paced adventure

About the book

Toni Inkblot is the only mouse in the house who can read. But he hasn't seen much of the outside world yet. He prefers to stay in Mr Slipper's cosy flat with his friends, Matti the marten and Lotte the moth. But that all changes one day when Mr Slipper receives a letter announcing big changes. The three animal friends have only one option to prevent this: they have to make sure that Mr Slipper's reply letter never reaches its destination. And so begins a chase across the city and a bigger adventure than Toni could ever have imagined.

- Fast-paced animal adventure with mouse, marten and moth and a chase across the city
- All for one - Together we are strong!
- For all lovers of characters like 'Ratatouille'

Ulla Mersmeyer was born in Bremen in 1980 and grew up there. Even at kindergarten age, no shopping list was safe from her drawings. After leaving school, she went to the theatre in Bremen and learned how to paint scenery and build stage sets. But because she really wanted to tell stories herself and bring them to life with pictures, she went on to study illustration in Münster, specialising in children's and young adult books. Today she lives in her dream city of Hamburg, where she finds the best sources of inspiration for humorous stories.

The Dino School - Watch out, small and snappy! (Volume 7)

Sweet was yesterday! Now it's getting small and snappy!

About the book

Tom, Onea and Freddy are amazed when they discover three orphaned dinosaur eggs on the beach of Sauritius. They soon hatch into baby dinosaurs and Doc Ponti decides that the island heroes should look after the young animals themselves. But that's easier said than done! The three friends have their funniest adventure yet, because the little dinosaurs are real whirlwinds and cause quite a stir on the island. But what happens when carnivores grow up and when is it better to stay safe from them?

- Reading fun guaranteed: The funniest adventure yet on the dinosaur island of Sauritius
- With short chapters and lots of colourful pictures, also ideal for beginners and children with reading difficulties

Susanne Oswald is a bestselling author - her dream has come true. Born in Freiburg, she loves the sea. Going for a walk on the beach with her husband and ending the evening in front of the fireplace with knitting on her lap is her favourite thing to do. Her head is almost always with her heroes and heroines, and it makes her happy to turn her imagination into reality and letters into stories.

Ida and the island gang

A tale of friendship on Norderum

About the book

Moving to Norderum, where only bad weather and a grey sea await? Not an option if ten-year-old Ida has her way. But she doesn't have much choice and soon realises that there is a lot to discover on the island with the help of her new friends. The hidden treasure of the sailor Ole Krull, for example. An exciting search full of puzzles and secrets begins for the newly formed island gang. And even though her rivals, the gang of beachcombers, are sometimes quite annoying with their pranks, one thing is clear to Ida at the end of the summer: she will stay on Norderum forever!

- The perfect summer book for anyone who loves mysteries, friendship stories and, of course, the sea
- A picturesque island setting where children can fully realise their thirst for adventure
- Includes instructions for crafting with found objects from the beach

Anne Barns is a pseudonym of the author Andrea Russo. She gave up her job as a teacher a few years ago so that she could concentrate fully on her books. She loves reading, cake and the sea. Her favourite place to write is on an island, if possible near a good bakery. Christin-Marie Below grew up surrounded by books, stories and colour. In 2018, she decided to turn her hobby into her profession and has been writing novels and stories for readers young and old ever since. It is very important to her to create strong characters that children can identify with.

As a child, Malin Hörl mainly travelled to the mountains with her parents. Her love of the North Sea only came later, but it came in spades. What could be better than sitting in the dunes with a sketchbook and capturing everything in watercolour and coloured pencil? (Even if you have to be careful not to get blown away.) After completing her design studies in Münster, specialising in illustration, she now works as a freelance author and illustrator and can't imagine anything better.

A horse named Wonder (Volume 1)

A delightful, heart-warming horse friendship story from the pen of successful author Britta Sabbag

About the book

When foster child Ole and the clever mare Wonder meet for the first time at Wild Turkey Farm, the bond between them is immediately noticeable. Both are considered outsiders and find a new home on the farm along with its loving and funny inhabitants. In addition to the owners Hank and Betty, the funny Usch and the quick-tempered turkey Harald live there. And the neighbour's girl Kiki is always there too. Ole learns that family can also be self-chosen and experiences an extraordinary friendship with Wonder. It doesn't matter that Wonder won't let herself be ridden - Wonder shows what she's made of in a different way, and Ole also takes on a real challenge for the first time when the neighbouring farm's ponies are in danger.

- A horse friendship story reminiscent of Fury and Black Beauty: warm-hearted, exciting and funny!
- Strengthens courage and tolerance: everyone is good just the way they are, and sometimes it's worth taking a closer look
- Lovable characters, superbly portrayed by Igor Lange

The wild Robbins. Vanished without a trace! (Volume 2)

The perfect children's adventure book!

About the book

A nightmare becomes reality! Everything could have been so peaceful, after all Rieke's gang, the wild Robbins, have made peace with their arch-rivals, the knights on wheels. At least for now. But Rieke's dog Murkel has been acting crazy for days, until he suddenly disappears completely. The Robbins search everywhere, but there are no leads anywhere. Has Murkel been kidnapped? The Stupid Knights are immediately the prime suspects, but they maintain their innocence. Rieke is completely desperate and dares to do something she probably shouldn't ...

- Say goodbye to boring everyday life - fun entertainment for wild children
- Favourite topics: independent children, cheeky action, friendship and animals
- With lots of illustrations and short chapters

Two passions emerged early on in Nina Weger's life: writing and the circus. She started dancing tightrope in a children's circus at the age of 13 and toured as a professional tightrope walker for a year after leaving school. She then trained at a journalism school, worked as a scriptwriter and finally found her way to children's books, where she made a name for herself with books such as 'Ein Krokodil taucht ab' and 'Club der Heldinnen'. At the same time, she runs the Giovanni children's circus together with two friends, which has been honoured with the German Children's Prize.
